Adults & Children Together: Against Violence (ACT) 202.336.5817

EMAIL: jsilva@apa.org

Washington, DC

WEB: <http://www.actagainstviolence.com/>

The ACT (Adults and Children Together: Against Violence) Project provides information based on long-term research to parents and other adults to help them protect children from violence. Through simple, accessible messages and materials, the Project translates the findings from research on early childhood development, aggression, and violence prevention. The program is designed to help adults become positive role models so they can teach young children constructive ways to resolve conflicts, deal with frustration, and handle anger. In doing so, they can help safeguard children from involvement with violence now and in the future.
